Summary of the Husband's Secret Abookaday, 2016-09-28 Warning This is an independent addition to The Husband's Secret, meant to enhance your experience of the original book. If you have not yet bought the original copy, make sure to purchase it before buying this unofficial summary from aBookaDay. INTRODUCTION Summary: The Husband's Secret is a novel about three wives and the secrets their husband's kept from them for decades. As a result of an accidental death, a mother's grief, and a cousin's betrayal, Cecilia Fitzpatrick, Rachel Crowley, and Tess Curtis' lives are now intertwined. The husband's individual secrets are discovered and are forgiven, but a price a different wife has set. SETTING St. Angela's Catholic School, in Sydney, Australia and the surrounding suburban area. Each family, the Fitzpatrick's, the Crowley's and the women of Tess's family - herself and her cousin, Felicia, have all attended St. Angela's and grew up with each other, eventually sending their own children to the same school. The school itself it treated as a center for activity, with each of the wives working at (Rachel), and being involved extensively (Cecilia) or returning to (Tess). No physical description of the school is given. Instead, Cecilia and another woman talk about the nuns who taught at the school being a dying breed. This statement coupled with the eccentric new principal, Trudy McDuff, implies that the school - a representation of stability and constancy - itself is changing. The time of year is the week leading up to Easter, which in Australia means the seasons are changing for the colder. Available on PC, Mac, smart phone, tablet or Kindle device. ("A bottomless champagne flute of a novel —The Washington Post) When Lauren returns home to her flat in London late one night, she is greeted at the door by her husband, Michael. There's only one problem—she's not married. She's never seen this man before in her life. But according to her friends, her much-improved decor, and the photos on her phone, they've been together for years. As Lauren tries to puzzle out how she could be married to someone she can't remember meeting, Michael goes to the attic to change a lightbulb and abruptly disappears. In his place, a new man emerges, and a new, slightly altered life re-forms around her. Realizing that her attic is creating an infinite supply of husbands, Lauren confronts the question: If swapping lives is as easy as changing a lightbulb, how do you know you've taken the right path? When do you stop trying to do better and start actually living?

Polygamous Marriages in Peninsular Malaysia Norani Othman,Yaso Nadarajah,Rozana Mohd Isa,2025-04-28 This book presents the first national study of the practice of polygamy undertaken amongst Malay Muslims, contextualised within the broader social, legal, and political context of Malaysia. A collaboration between the Sisters in Islam NGO and three universities in Malaysia, it examines the perspectives of both men and women through quantitative and qualitative data analysis of over 1,200 surveys and more than 60 in-depth interviews charting the legal, financial, social, and emotional impacts of polygamy. It incorporates both progressive Islamic scholarly thought and the unique sociologically rich perspectives of the study respondents. In doing so, the data serves to strengthen advocacy for awareness and law reforms within Islamic jurisprudence frameworks and institutions. As one of the most comprehensive surveys ever conducted on polygamy in a Muslim society, this represents a major tour de force within a little explored field with tremendous potential for societal impact. This book is relevant to academics and graduate students seeking a deeper understanding of the issues related to Muslim polygamous marriage and to researchers within the broader fields of gender studies, family studies, Islamic studies, and Islamic legal studies. It is also a landmark resource for activists and policymakers seeking to advocate on behalf of marginalised groups—particularly women and children in polygamous families.
