Donald McDonald

Reasons to Live When You Don't Feel Like Living , You don't have to be fully healed to have reasons to stay. "Reasons to Live When You Don't Feel Like Living" is a gentle, soul-soothing companion for anyone who feels lost, overwhelmed, or quietly breaking inside. Through 100 compassionate reflections, healing poems, and vibrant illustrations, author Sam Choo offers comfort without clichés—and hope without pressure. This isn't a book of perfect answers. It's a reminder that even in your darkest moments, there are still reasons to keep going. Some are small. Some are deep. All are real. Whether you're struggling yourself or love someone who is, this book is a tender invitation: Stay. Breathe. Turn the page. There is light here. And you are not alone.

All the Beautiful Things Beth Doherty,2020-03-01 Taking as its theme 'beauty from ashes' the beautiful image from Isaiah 61:3, All the Beautiful Things: Finding Truth, Beauty and Goodness in a Fractured Church is written at a time when the Catholic Church and its people are reeling from years of scandal. This book asks questions throughout and attempts to answer them based on the author's lived experience; but it also engages a wide range of conversation partners. These answers are the result of interviews, surveys and conversations with people who love the Church, but seek reform and renewal. It is a 'cri de coeur', a cry of the heart to try to reclaim what has been lost. It is a taking up of a cross and walking on a journey paved with all manner of challenge. In the end, the author's hope is to help others to rediscover the truth, beauty and goodness that still exist within Catholicism.

Unruly Saint Danielle L. Mayfield,2022 In 1933, in the shadow of the Great Depression, Dorothy Day launched the Catholic Worker Movement, a worldwide crusade for equality. In Unruly Saint, D. L. Mayfield illuminates the ways in which Day found the love of God in, and expressed it for, her neighbors during a time of great upheaval.

Beauty John-Mark Miravalle,2019-04-14 Offering an abundance of accessible examples, author John Mark Miravalle demonstrates that beauty is neither in the eye of the beholder, nor for the cultivated, the dreamer, or the hopeless romantic alone. On the contrary, the ability to understand, recognize, and delight in beauty readies all souls for heaven - and makes it easier for us to get there.

Literature and Beyond Eric de Haard,Wim Honselaar,Jenny Stelleman,2008

ANIMAE Emma Coccioli,2019-09-19 Romanticism, the brooding and intensely personal eighteenth-century art and literary movement, takes on a new lease of life in this carefully curated collection of interviews with contemporary artists from around the world. Informed by the writings of the renowned psychoanalyst James Hillman, Romanticism is reconsidered from a twenty-first-century perspective. Moving past a purely formal presentation of the artists' work, this text strives to uncover the deeper meaning and more pressing issues present in the artworks. All connected by a similar romantic vein, Emma Coccioli explores each artist's individual practice through a series of carefully selected questions. For Coccioli, discussions of 'the moral issue' and the future of the world also form an important part of the interviews. Coccioli acknowledges that artists have often been asked questions about their role in relation to the moral issue and the problem of nihilism. However, even if we have an inherent understanding of the concepts of good and evil, Coccioli argues that there is a need to re-examine the modern-day psyche as it tends to be apathetic and with little emotional resonance on our actions and behaviour. Global overpopulation, climate change, and the planet's limited resources are also meaningfully discussed in this collection of interviews. In questioning the artists, whose work addresses, even remotely, these topics, Coccioli encourages them to consider what they believe to be the greatest threats to today's global community and to suggest solutions that might be adopted by future generations. This original and engaging look at contemporary art practice presents a sophisticated discussion of some of the most pressing issues for modern-day society. The interdisciplinary nature of this book means that it will appeal to students, scholars, artists and to anyone with an interest in the fascinating world of contemporary art.

Imagination and Myths in John Keats's Poetry Diane Brotemarkle, 1993 This study seeks elements of self-definition in Keats's work, the quest for the poetical character. From both his poems and letters, an aesthetic emerges which locates the poetical character in terms of a responsible role in a creative process: a transcendent imagination infuses beauty into the material world; these particulars become a source of inspiration for the artist, the foundation of the simple imaginative mind. The readings of Keats's poems depend on these stages, on the two kinds of imagination and the mediation between them. This study is the one of the first to yield this particular synthesis, and the importance of historicism to Keats's aesthetic has before not always been weighted.

The New Russian Dostoevsky Carol Apollonio Flath, 2010 A collection of articles representing cutting-edge Russian scholarship on Dostoevsky and his writings, in English translation.

The Review of Reviews William Thomas Stead, 1913

Spirit and Beauty Patrick Sherry, 2002 This text discusses what both the early Fathers and later writers such as Calvin and Sergius Bulgakov said about the association of beauty, both in nature and art, with the Holy Spirit. It also considers topics such as divine glory, inspiration and the eschatological character of beauty.

Images of Redemption Patrick Sherry, 2003 After discussing the arts of redemption and their rivals, and introducing soteriology, the theology of salvation, Patrick Sherry argues that the Christian Drama of Redemption has three Acts. The next five chapters discuss the three Acts, namely salvation history, our present human life, and the life to come. In each case, Sherry explains how art and literature can lead to an understanding of what is at stake here. His main concern is with the present life: hence three of those chapters deal with that phase of redemption, one of them specifically with novels of redemption. The last substantial chapter of the book takes up the general issue of how art and literature contribute to religious understanding: Sherry argues that they may be primary expressions of religious belief, as well as illustrations, and that as such they may criticise or complement theology, or in turn be open to criticism themselves from that quarter. Finally, he summarises the main theme and briefly discusses some of the particular problems of assessing the arts of redemption. The book's most distinctive feature is the way in which it uses art and literature as a means of religious and theological understanding. It is not a survey of the arts of redemption, though it uses a wide variety of examples, including ancient Greek drama, Flemish and Italian painting, religious music, and 19th -20th century novels. These examples are used as a tool for understanding what is one of the most difficult areas of theology.

Culture and Eschatology Peter C. Phan,1985 Among the twentieth-century Orthodox theologians Paul Evdokimov (1901-1970) has without doubt achieved a position of preeminence. Born in St. Petersburg and emigrated to Paris in 1923, Evdokimov was educated at the Sorbonne and Aix-en-Provence and taught at the Institut Saint Serge until his death in 1970. He was very active in the ecumenical movement, especially in the World Council of Churches. He was also the official Orthodox observer at the Second Vatican Council. This book, the first full-length English study of Evdokimov's theology, concentrates on culture, eschatology, and iconography, three central pillars of the Evdokimovian theological edifice. According to Evdokimov, everything in human culture must be viewed in light of the End, the already-realized-and-yet-to-come eschatological fulfillment in Jesus Christ. The symbol and embodiment of this eschatology is the icon which makes present and participates in the transfigured reality of the Kingdom of God.

The Boyer Collection Donald McDonald,2001 Since their inception in 1959, the ABC's Boyer Lecture series have given prominent Australians an opportunity to discuss their work and thinking on major social, scientific and cultural issues. In this book, Donald McDonald has selected a lecture from every series from the last forty years, creating an extraordinary record of Australian thought and culture.

Evil and Evolutionary Eschatology Julian Victor Langmead Casserley,1990 In this text, C. Don Casserley subsumes history into biological evolution and defends humanism from the perspective of eschatology.

The World Tomorrow, 1919

Tomorrow, Today Silvia Chan, 2012 In 2009, the Singapore Art Museum (SAM) began its transformation into a museum of contemporary art. It has since amassed one of the most definitive public collections of contemporary Southeast Asian art, and this guide to its contemporary collection presents a snapshot of current artistic production in the most dynamic of regions, with its heady fusion of stylistic beauty and urgent social commentary. Spanning the Southeast Asian and Asia region, the collection includes seminal works from artists like Tang Da Wu, Suzann Victor, Roberto Felco, Nge Lay, Jun Nguyen-Hatsushiba, Araya Rasdjarmrearnsook, Agus Suwage, Entang Wiharso, Yee I-Lann, Zulkifi Yusoff, Nalini Malani and Shen Shaomin, among others. The works featured were brought into the collection from 2009 to 2011. Featuring over 300 fully illustrated artworks from 180 artists, each artwork is presented alongside individual texts that explores its unique aesthetics and links it to its wider social context--Page 4 of cover.
