Perceptions of the European Union in New Member States Gabriella Ilonszki, 2013-10-31 The book explores the views of elites alongside those of the wider population in the European Union. The chapters place the new member states - and the potential candidate Serbia - on the map of Europe in this context for the first time. The volume's comparative method goes beyond the standard old member states versus new member states divide. It assesses regional differences within Central Europe and evaluates the problem of European and national identity formation, perception of external threats to the EU (including Russia), differences between economic and political elite views about the integration process and the connection between national performance and public opinion about Europe. Even though, in each country, positive views are dominant about the integration process, heterogeneous views prevail behind the image of a unifying Europe. The book's major contribution is that it makes the new member states more visible and provides hard evidence while remaining theoretically driven. Furthermore, it covers the most important topics that emerge in studies concerning European integration. The book is intended for those interested in European integration in general but Central and Eastern European comparativists will find it particularly useful. This book was published as a special issue of Europe-Asia Studies.

Es wurde insbesondere Wert auf eine klare Analyse der Situation sowie der Herkunft von Markenpiraterie gelegt. Außerdem werden die dramatischen Auswirkungen und Mögliche Abwehrstrategien vorgestellt. Dabei werden praxisnahe Möglichkeiten in den Vordergrund gestellt sowie Ansprüche an politische Entscheidungsträger formuliert. Alle Zwischenergebnisse wurden graphisch dargestellt um Vermittlung und Präsentation für Entscheidungsträger zu vereinfachen. Zusätzlich gibt es einen besonderen Schwerpunkt auf kulturelle Aspekte der chinesischen Markenpiraterie. Einleitend werden auch positive Aspekte von Produktpiraterie erörtert. Alle Angaben sind mit aktuellen Daten hinterlegt soweit diese zugänglich sind. Hypothetische Schätzungen wurden vermieden. Es wurden ca. 150 Quelltexte ausgewertet wobei die Aktualität der Referenzliteratur beachtet wurde. Abstract: The paper Counterfeiting in the People's Republic of China deals with all aspects of counterfeiting in China. Special attention is drawn on analysis of impact, drivers and containment options concerning increased counterfeiting. Beside a main focus are cultural reasons for counterfeiting. Additionally the paper includes many charts and graphs to support an easy summary or presentation to others. Overall 150 sources were examined and latest numbers are included. Although China's counterfeiting issue makes headlines in the economic world, only few research examined the problem in a comprehensive way. Many journalists focus on legal issues and thus mainly on the supply side of counterfeiting. Other researchers simply blame China's cultural heritage to be the main cause. Most papers lack a broad approach, which is inadequate regarding the magnitude and scope of China's counterfeiting. The objective of the present paper is to give a comprehensive overview about counterfeiting in the People's Republic of China. Comprehensive shall mean that all aspects of counterfeiting are subject to analysis. In the following, supportive drivers for counterfeiting Although China's counterfeiting issue makes headlines in the economic world, only few research examined the problem in a comprehensive way. Many journalists focus on legal issues and thus mainly on the supply side of counterfeiting. Other researchers simply blame China's cultural heritage to be the main cause. Most papers [...]

Labour Markets at a Crossroads Henrik Lindberg,2011-12-14 The European labour market models are at a crossroads. Almost all Western European countries have experienced a lack of job creation, productivity and growth for an extended period of time. There is a problem of unemployment overall, but most urgently for the young, for immigrants and for the disabled. There is a clear need for reform. This volume, Labour Markets at a Crossroads: Causes of Change, Challenges and Need to Reform, investigates a number of vital aspects of the European labour markets and the challenges they face. The chapters give new perspectives on how the different labour market models in Europe work, and what consequences they have. The contributing authors are academic scholars in economics, political science, sociology and economic history from a variety of European countries. The book is structured around three main themes: Flexicurity and Labour Market Dynamics Trade Unions and Industrial Action Wages and Bargaining A central conclusion made by the editors is that one of the main causes of the shortcomings of the European labour markets is the existence of what they call “corporative cartels.” Moreover, there are clear options for policy choice, both for legislators and the social partners themselves.

Bioeconomy and Global Inequalities Maria Backhouse,Rosa Lehmann,Kristina Lorenzen,Malte Lühmann,Janina Puder,Fabricio Rodríguez,Anne Tittor,2021-05-17 This open access book focuses on the meanings, agendas, as well as the local and global implications of bioeconomy and bioenergy policies in and across South America, Asia and Europe. It explores how a transition away from a fossil and towards a bio-based economic order alters, reinforces and challenges socio-ecological inequalities. The volume presents a historically informed and empirically rich discussion of bioeconomy developments with a particular focus on bio-based energy. A series of conceptual discussions and case studies with a multidisciplinary background in the social sciences illuminate how the deployment of biomass sources from the agricultural and forestry sectors affect societal changes concerning knowledge production, land and labour relations, political participation and international trade. How can a global perspective on socio-ecological inequalities contribute to a complex and critical understanding of bioeconomy? Who participates in the negotiation of specific bioeconomy policies and who does not? Who determines the agenda? To what extent does the bioeconomy affect existing socio-ecological inequalities in rural areas? What are the implications of the bioeconomy for existing relations of extraction and inequalities across regions? The volume is an invitation to reflect upon these questions and more, at a time when the need for an ecological and socially just transition away from a carbon intensive economy is becoming increasingly pressing.
